Tutorial Allocation

Tutorials will be on Monday and Thursday. There are no tutorials during the first week of the trimester. Please attend the tutorial for which you sign up.

Students will have the opportunity to select a tutorial time during the first week of class. Each tutorial group will have no more than 15 students. Tutorial lists will be posted on the Tourism Management notice board in Rutherford House (Mezzanine Level) on Thursday, July 12th. If you have any problems or concerns about the tutorial schedule, please contact the course coordinator (Adam Weaver) or the tutorial co-ordinator (Lucy Beer). Tutorial attendance and active involvement in discussions are an important component of the course. If you attend fewer than 8 tutorials, you will not gain terms for the course. Exemptions from tutorials will only be granted with a medical certificate or in exceptional circumstances.

FINAL EXAMINATION

The final three hour examination will be during the trimester 2 examination period: 19th October – 10th November 2007. You must obtain a grade of at least 40% on the final examination to pass the course.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This course is designed to explore the behaviour of tourists both within New Zealand and overseas. TOUR 345 has a demand-side focus and will help students…

- become familiar with research that addresses tourist behaviour
- appreciate different approaches to the study of tourist behaviour
- make connections between theory and practice in the study of tourist behaviour
- realize that tourism demand continues to evolve, and that this evolutionary process should be understood by tourism researchers, marketers, policy makers, and other stakeholders within the tourism industry
- further develop generic research, communication, and critical thinking skills

SKILLS

This course will assist students in their efforts to:

- develop both a practical and critical understanding of tourist behaviour
- analyse, appraise, and synthesize concepts relevant to the study of tourist behaviour
- understand applications of tourist behaviour research
- refine research and written communication skills
- use a variety of library-hosted research databases (for example, Hospitality & Tourism Complete, Leisure Tourism, ProQuest, Expanded Academic ASAP, and Business Source Premier)
- exchange ideas with their peers on topics related to tourist behaviour with confidence
COURSE CONTENT
This course examines tourist behaviour from both theoretical and practical perspectives. The study of tourist behaviour has utility for students who plan to have a career in the tourism sector. It is important that different stakeholders within the tourism industry (state institutions, business owners, tourism marketers, service employees, and even tourists) understand tourist behaviour and its ramifications. Research that explores tourist behaviour can be used to develop sound tourism policy and better tourism products.

The course will explore an array of themes and issues related to tourist behaviour. A number of questions will be addressed. How do researchers study tourist behaviour? Why do tourists travel? What inspires tourists to undertake certain types of travel? What variables influence the choices and decisions made by tourists? The course also reviews different ways to classify tourists. What sorts of typologies do researchers and marketers use to classify tourists? Why is it important to identify different tourist types? The course will then examine different types of tourists and their behaviour. Why do certain types of tourists behave in certain ways? What factors, for example, shape the behaviour of backpackers, senior travellers, disabled tourists, wine tourists or business travellers? It is hoped that students, once they complete the course, will appreciate the study of tourist behaviour and its importance to the tourism industry.

Left-over copies of materials distributed in class (for example, class handouts and tutorial assignments) will be made available in front of Room 927 on the 9th floor of Rutherford House.

EXPECTED WORKLOAD
Students can expect the workload to be approximately 16 hours per week (24 pt course), including both scheduled contact time (lectures, tutorials, workshops) and outside class.

Essays submitted by e-mail or fax will not be accepted.

COURSE WORK
All assignments should be handed into the TOUR 345 box located on the mezzanine floor, Rutherford House. Before submitting assignments refer to the Tourism Management Style Guide.

ASSESSMENT
In TOUR 345, students will be assessed in ways that are meant to promote the development of certain skills (see p. 2). The two essays will provide students with an opportunity to engage with tourist behaviour research – and its applications – at an advanced level and to develop writing skills further. Students will be rewarded for producing work that is clearly written, well organized, analytical, and thought provoking. The final examination will assess students’ cumulative understanding of concepts addressed in the course. Tutorial participation is an important component of TOUR 345; tutorials are a forum within which students can discuss, debate, and develop ideas relevant to the study and management of tourist behaviour.

There are three items of assessment in this course:

Essays should be approximately 2,500 words in length.

Options for Essay #1…

1. What is tourist motivation and why does it deserve to be studied? Who can benefit from the study of motivation?

2. How can service providers, policy makers, and tourists promote responsible tourist behaviour?

3. To what extent does culture affect tourist behaviour? Why should marketers and service providers try to understand cultural differences and similarities?

4. Who are backpackers? What types of experiences do they seek? Should New Zealand try to attract more backpackers? Why or why not?
Options for Essay #2…

5. How can service providers in the tourism industry better serve senior citizens? What types of needs and preferences do senior travellers have?

6. What is the ‘OE’ (overseas experience) and why has it become an important experience for many New Zealanders?

7. Do business travellers have needs and preferences that are different from those of pleasure travellers? What measures are (or should be) taken by service providers to attract business travellers?

8. What factors may influence the behaviour of tourists in the future? Do you think that tourist behaviour in the future will be radically different from present-day tourist behaviour? Why or why not?

FURTHER COMMENTS ABOUT THE ESSAYS

Prepare your essays with care and pride. Your essays should be polished and professional pieces of work. Essays for this course must be fully referenced. Further details on referencing and essay format are discussed in the BTM Style Guide (copies of this document can be obtained via Blackboard). Credit will be given for evidence of wide reading and the ability to develop, structure and present material, ideas and arguments clearly and effectively. Essays should be placed in the appropriate box in Rutherford House (Mezzanine Level) on or before the due date.

COURSE TEXT

There is no textbook for this course. Booklets that contain photocopied readings will be distributed in class. Please make an effort to read the contents of these booklet. The readings will improve your ability to understand concepts addressed in the course.

There are a number of books that will be helpful to you as you prepare your essays…

These books can only be borrowed from the Commerce Library for a short period of time (either 3 days or 2 hours). You are also encouraged to consult recent issues of Tourism News (d G155 N5 N547). This periodical is available from the Central Library.

PENALTIES FOR LATE ASSIGNMENTS

The Tourism Management Group has implemented a standardized late penalty for all tourism courses. Students who submit late assignments will be penalized at a rate of 5% per day (including weekends). Work will not be accepted after more than 7 days after the due date. Students who do not submit an assignment before the 7 days have elapsed will not gain terms.

Extensions will only be granted under special circumstances. Students who wish to apply for an extension must contact the course coordinator several weeks before the due date. Students who apply for an extension due to illness must obtain a medical certificate. Medical certificates must specify that the student is “unfit to study” or “unfit to sit an examination.” Medical certificates must also indicate the duration of the illness. Please take note: workload pressures and computer problems are NOT a case for extension.

Late assignments should be delivered to the course coordinator (Adam Weaver) or to Linda Walker (Rutherford House, Room 927). Linda’s office hours are from 9 to 3:30 (Monday-Friday).

MANDATORY COURSE REQUIREMENTS

To fulfil the mandatory course requirements for this course you must:

1. Attend at least eight of the ten scheduled tutorial sessions,
2. Submit all assignments within 7 days of the due date, and
3. Obtain a grade of at least 40% on the final examination.

Students who fail to satisfy the mandatory course requirements for this course but who obtain 50% or more overall, will be awarded a “K” fail grade. Standard fail grades (D or E) will be awarded when the student’s overall course mark falls below the minimum pass mark, whether or not the mandatory course requirements have been satisfied.

Notice of Failure to meet Mandatory Course Requirements will be posted on Blackboard or on the 9th and Mezzanine Floors, Rutherford House notice boards. Students will be expected to check both places for notification.
ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Additional information will be conveyed to students using the Blackboard system, and through announcements in lectures and tutorials. Copies of overheads used in class will be made available to students via Blackboard.
