- be effective communicators (assessed through participation in class and seminar discussions)
- have a global and multicultural perspective (assessed by essay and case study assignments)
- recognise, support and display leadership (assessed through participation in class and seminar discussions and exercises)
- develop specific knowledge and skills in at least one business, or public policy discipline area (assessed by essay and case study assignments)
- demonstrate an understanding of existing and new initiatives relating to Māori development in the challenging economic and financial crisis which has emerged internationally and in New Zealand (assessed by essay and case study assignments)

Specific Course-related Student Objectives

This course examines land, water-based and other resources available to Māori and initiatives that can be taken in policy development to ensure these resources are used effectively.

By the end of this course students should be able to:

- Describe the resource base uniquely available for Māori development;
- Describe the management systems applied to the Māori resource base;
- Explain current policies and change proposals relating to the management of Māori resources; and
- Critically analysis the management systems applied to specific areas of Māori resources.

Course Content

MBUS 201 is for undergraduate students who have an interest in the Māori resource base and the processes which determine how the resources are managed.

Māori resources comprise a broad range of elements which can be uniquely applied to the general thrust of Māori development. While Māori must utilise the resources available from all sectors, some resources are specifically available to Māori for Māori development. It is the management of this broad range of resources which we examine in this paper.

The resources examined in this course range from the most vital resources of all, the people, and include the management of resources associated with the land, water and other tangible and intangible assets.

The course begins with an overview of the Māori resource base, and then looks at the issues, processes and systems by which they are managed. It examines the broad institutional framework, which addresses the control, application and management of the resources and looks at how and why Māori has only recently been able to regain control over their resources.

Participants on this course will examine and evaluate new Government initiatives targeted towards Maori development.

Expected Workload .

Students can expect the workload to be approximately 15hrs per week including both scheduled contact time (lectures, tutorials, workshops) and outside class.

Readings

There is no textbook for this course. Readings and case materials will be distributed during the course. Students are expected to read the assigned readings before the lectures (refer to Course Schedule).

Additional reading will occasionally be given out. These should be inserted into your folders.

Students are also encouraged to access the following website

Te Puni Kokiri

www.tpk.govt.nz

This website provides access to current government initiatives, speeches and legislation relevant to Māori and contains a substantive link to relevant sites within New Zealand and around the world

Materials and Equipment

There are no extra materials or equipment for this course

Mandatory Course Requirements

MBUS 201 is 100% internally assessed. Assessment aims to test a variety of skills and enable students to exhibit their diverse strengths.

To meet the mandatory requirements for MBUS 201, students are required to:

- Sit and submit the review test;
- Complete ALL assignments by the due dates and attain at least a C average;
- Participate in the lectures and tutorials; and
- Attend and participate in the one-day workshop

Assignment	(2000 words)	30%
Case Study Report	(2500 words)	45%
One-day Workshop		5%
Review Test		20%

Assignment and report topics and due dates will be distributed to students during the first lecture.

Notice of failure to meet Mandatory Requirements will be emailed to students or posted on the Mezzanine floor notice-board. Students will be expected to check both places for notification.

One Day Workshop: Students will be expected to attend and participate in the MBUS 201 one-day workshop. Exemption from this workshop will only be given in extreme circumstances. If you anticipate you will have a problem attending, please contact the course coordinator before the workshop.

Penalties

Assignments: Any assignments that are handed in late will receive a penalty loss of 5% for everyday after the due date.

Workshop: 5% course marks will NOT be awarded towards final mark if you are not at the workshop, even if you have been excused from attending.

Requirement for Written work

Marking

Staff aim to mark assignments promptly and return them to you in plenty of time for you to utilise the feedback in preparing your next assignment. Markers look for professionally presented work displaying a thorough understanding of the topic, a strong argument supported by sound evidence (appropriately referenced) and an ability to evaluate material.

A mark of 50 is a pass and indicates an adequate performance. Most students will meet an 'acceptable' standard of work throughout the year and a number will maintain an excellent standard. There are no "quotas" on any of these categories, so make use of the information available to you, and aim for the top.

The following broad indicative characterisations of grade will apply in grading:

A+	excellent performance in all respects
A	excellent performance in almost all respects
A-	excellent performance in many respects
B+	very good, some aspects excellent
B, B-	good but not excellent performance
C+, C	work satisfactory overall but inadequate in some respects
D	poor performance overall, some aspects adequate
E	well below the required standard
K	Failure to achieve mandatory course requirements and have achieved at least an average "C" over all the assessment. Note this is a failing grade.

Presentation

All assignments should be typed and double-spaced with an adequate margin on the left-hand side of the page for markers' comments. Write on only one side of the page.

Handing in of Assignments

Assignments should be submitted, in hard copy form in the boxes located on the Mezzanine floor. Assignments received after that time will be deemed to be late, and must be handed to Reception, Level 10, Rutherford House.

All Hand-Ins should have: an Assignment Cover Sheet stating your name, the course name, lecturers name, assignment name and number, a word count and due date. You should also put page numbers on each page, and use in-text referencing and include a list of references at the end. Preferred referencing style is APA system. You can access the information from the online VUW library site (<http://www.vuw.ac.nz/library/resources/virtualref.shtml#style>)

Students will prepare two copies of each hand-in and keep the second copy for their own reference. Students must also keep an electronic copy of their work

Communication of Additional Information

Additional information or any changes to this course will be conveyed to students either during lecture times, via email, or on the Maori Business notice board located on the Mezzanine Floor Rutherford House.

General University Policies and Statutes

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy/students.aspx

For information on the following topics, go to the Faculty's website www.victoria.ac.nz/fca under Important Information for Students:

- Academic Grievances
- Student and Staff Conduct
- Meeting the Needs of Students with Impairments
- Student Support

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity is about honesty – put simply it means no cheating. All members of the University community are responsible for upholding academic integrity, which means staff and students are expected to behave honestly, fairly and with respect for others at all times.

Plagiarism is a form of cheating which undermines academic integrity. The University defines plagiarism as follows:

The presentation of the work of another person or other persons as if it were one's own, whether intended or not. This includes published or unpublished work, material on the Internet and the work of other students or staff.

It is still plagiarism even if you re-structure the material or present it in your own style or words.

Note: including the work of others will not be considered plagiarism as long as the work is acknowledged by appropriate referencing.

Plagiarism is prohibited at Victoria and is not worth the risk. Any enrolled student found guilty of plagiarism will be subject to disciplinary procedures under the Statute on Student Conduct and may be penalised severely. Consequences of being found guilty of plagiarism can include:

- an oral or written warning
- cancellation of your mark for an assessment or a fail grade for the course
- suspension from the course or the University.

Find out more about plagiarism, and how to avoid it, on the University's website:

Manaaki Pihipihinga Programme

Manaaki Pihipihinga is an academic mentoring programme for undergraduate Māori and Pacific students in the Faculties of Commerce and Administration, and Humanities and Social Sciences. Sessions are held at the Kelburn and Pipitea Campuses in the Mentoring Rooms, 14 Kelburn Parade (back courtyard), Room 109D, and Room 210, Level 2, Railway West Wing. There is also a Pacific Support Coordinator who assists Pacific students by linking them to the services and support they need while studying at Victoria. Another feature of the programme is a support network for Postgraduate students with links to Postgraduate workshops and activities around Campus.

For further information, or to register with the programme, email manaaki-pihipihinga-programme@vuw.ac.nz or phone (04) 463 6015. To contact the Pacific Support Coordinator, email pacific-support-coord@vuw.ac.nz or phone (04) 463 5842.
